

AUTISM

The Autism Family Support Service invites you to a training course on

An introduction to Social Communication Difficulties and Autistic Spectrum Conditions

Friday 9th July

10am-1pm

via Zoom

Book early to secure your spot

This parent training will be delivered by the national charity Ambitious about Autism and provides an introduction to the key areas of difference for someone on the autism spectrum.

The course looks at how autism presents itself differently in individuals and helps participants gain greater insight into how people on the autism spectrum see the world. The session will also give parents an opportunity to meet one another virtually and share experiences. There will be time to discuss specific needs, as well as common behaviours of children with autism, and possible interventions and strategies.
